CHURCH DEDICATION.

The Presbyterians in Their New Church-Three Dedicatory Services-Prominent Ministers of Other Churches Take Part -Interesting Occasion.

The dedication of the new Presbyterian church here Sunday was not only a red-letter day for the church but the community as well. There were three services, morning, afternoon and night, all of which were largely attended, especially the morning and night services. The occasion partook of the all the churches in the community being well represented, and many congratulations from pulpit and people were tendered. Inside and out the edifice shows evidence of solidity and completeness. Architecturally it is one of the best efforts of Mr. George Archer, architect, of Baltimore, who in planning the day night, was largely attended and an lines has preserved a most perfect symmetry between the tower and main building. The building is gothic in style and the tower up to where the electric lights, which, when aglow at night give a pleasing effect. The night give a pleasing effect. The school room the lower part while the main auditorium completes the cross. This form was more of an accident than design as in order to carry out the idea of throwing the two rooms into one it was necessary. By this arrangement about five hundred persons can be comfortably seated. Large sliding windows divide the two rooms. The lighting is by electricity.

The ceiling of the main auditorium i semi-arched, while the recess forming the pulpit, in keeping with the two large windows at either end, is spanned by a superb arch. The seats are placed in amphitheatre form and in all respects comfortable. The entrance is under the tower to the vestibule, from which doors lead both to the auditorium and to the Sunday school room. The windows are of stained glass, procured from the Atlanta Art Glass Company and shed a pleasing light throughout the interior. The edifice is built of granite obtained from our native quarries.

The building being on the plateau near the courthouse commands a picturesque view of the town and surrounding country.

The new church takes the place of the old edifice, which collapsed last spring, while excavations ware being made to enlarge the basement for the Sunday s hool room. After the collapse it was determined to rebuild. A noteworthy fact in connection with the raising of funds for the new church was that the first contribution was by a member of the Episcopal church. The policy in raising means to build, as announced by the pastor, was to rely entirely on voluntary contributions, resorting to neither fairs, festivals nor concerts.

At the morning services the congregation of the Ellicott City M. E. Church attended in a body, accompanied by their pastor, Rev. D. M. Browning, who occupied a seat in the pulpit, and assisted in g was excellent and the various the devotional exercises. At the even-beautitully rendered. A large services Rev. Ernest C Ide, of the Ellicrowd was present. The usual gifts cot City Lutheran. Church, who also were distributed among the children and took part in the devotions, was present The morning services were opened with an overture, "Lord, We Come," by the Alberton orchestra, followed by an invocation by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Henry Branch, and the hymn beginning, "Ali hail the power of Jesus' name congregation. Then followed . services in conformity with the usages of the church, which consisted in the delivering of the keys of the church by the contractor to the building committee, the certificate of the architect, the certificate of the treasurer as to the accounts being settled, motion to dedicate the house to religious worship, and the procession to the vestibule, bearing vessels of corn. wine and oil, symbolical of the sacred use of the building. The dedicatory prayer wastoffered by the pastor, who, after an appropriate hymn by the congregation, read an interesting history of the church. Collowing was a solo, "Lord, Remember David, rendered by Mrs. George D. Maxwell, of Ellicott City. The dedicatory sermon was by Rev. George E. Jones, D. D. stated clerk of the Presbytery of Baltimore. His remarks were based on the text, "So the King and all the children of Israel ded cated the house of the Lord "The Alberton orchestra rendered the anthem, "Praise Ye the Lord." The singing of the doxology by the congregation, and the benediction by Rev. D. M. Browning, closed the morning services. The afternoon services, which began at half-past three o'clock, consisted principally of addresses by Elder A B. Crane, of Park Church, Baltimore, and Rev. W. A. Baker, superintendent of the Maryland Sunday School Union At gregation, who were unable to attend; phia Presbyterian Church; Rev B B Bittinger, of Washington, and Rev. W A. Hooper Those sending letters of congratulation were Rev. Father P B Tarro, of St. Paul's Catholic Church, Ellicott City; Rev D. J Beale, of Fred erick; Rev. Oliver Hemstreet, of Baltimore; Rev. S. P. Reamer, of Alberton Kilmon's pulpit in the morning. the Elkridge M. E. Church; Rev F. S. Kilman, of the Relay M. E. Church, and services, besides the pastor, were Revs. D. M. Browning, E. C. Ide, Hall Harrison D D. and George E. Jones. Rev Joseph F. Jennison, of the Presoyterian Church, of Catonsyille, was unwoidably detained away.

The space about the pulpit was pro fusely studded with flowers and plants while from the centre of the ceiling radiated a number of evergreen pendants gracefully curving to the walls. Rev. Dr. Harrison's address was listened to with marked attention. After congratulating the pastor and his coworkers upon the completion of character of a denominational reunion, their church, which he alluded to as an architectural ornament to the town, Dr. Harrison referred to the remarkable address of Cardinal Gibbons in the Parliament of Religions at Chicago, where in the Cardinal, without in any way lowering the claims of his own church had spoken in a beautiful and elevated strain of charity as the greatest of virtues and had recognized that in some doctrines, indeed, the most important, al Christian denominations are one.

"The word church," said Dr. Harrison, "is used vaguely and in different senses, but in the largest, broadest and grandest sense it [means the city of the living God as well in Heaven as on earth: and Mr. Charles A. "With Cardinal Gibbons," said Dr. Harrison. "and these words of the prayer-book of my own church behind me, I feel perfectly justified and very glad to stand upon his platform beside my reverend brother and offer him warm congratulations and best wishes. I would take the two great commandments on which the Saviour said hang all the law and the prophets as the essence of religion. These two commandments sweep away whole continents of theological controversies, or at least relegate them to a minor and secondary place." Dr. Harrison con cluded by referring to the great hymns which have been contributed to the universal church by Presbyterians, and he repeated in conclusion the hymn of President Timothy Dwight, of Yale College, "I Love Thy Kingdom Lord." The address of Dr. Harrison produced an exceedingly pleasant, and we might say a lasting impression upon his auditors. The broad catholic spirit of his utterances seemed to find a ready response in every one present judging from the favorable comment heard on every hand among the people since the dedication.

Following is the communication o Rev. P. B. Tarro to Dr. Branch:

REVEREND AND DEAR SIR: Whilst regretting my inability to en tertain your kind invitation I sincerely congratulate you upon the happy termi nation of your undertaking. The new Presbyterian church is no mean nor unmeaning ornament. The cloud-piercing spire and the cruciform disposition of the interior, two significent devices of Catholic architecture, strongly empha sized in the art-creations of the mediaval period, indicate a healthy return to ymbolism in religion, and reastirm the right of esthetics in religious worship, as the true, the good, the beautiful and the boly are one in the Supreme and Perfect Being.

Most sincerely,
P. B. TARRO. Miss Mary E. Holden was organist. Among the memorial contributions are costly solid silver communion servics, by Mr. Thomas Kirby, of Ellicott City. The building committee was composed of Rev. Henry Branch, Joseph Holmes, Jas Holden and John M. Bone.

OBITUARY.

CHARLES P. MONTAGUE. The death of General Charles 1 Montague, one of the best-known residents of this community, occurred at two o'clock this morning at Ingleheim, his Howard county home, quar Hehester, of Bright's disease, aged sixty-seven years. He had been ill for several weeks past, had given up all hopes of his recovery.

General Montague was twice married, his first wife being a Miss Dennison, daughter of the late Marcus Dennison, of Baltimore. His second wife, who survives him, was Mrs. Meredith form erly Miss Withers, of Virginia, and by whom there is no issue. Of his first union he leaves one son and two daughters, they being Mr. William L. Montague, Mrs. Alexander Brown and Mrs. William I. James, all of Baltimore. His brothers and sisters surviving are Mr. Walter P. Montague, of New York; Ir. William L. Montague, of the New ork Life Insurance Company; Mr. John H. Montague, of Richmond, Va., and Mrs. Charles M. Catlin, of New York. The deceased was a native of Richmond, Va., and although coming to Baltimore when quite a young man, had occupied there several prominent public positions. In 1861 he was tendered by land legislature, having been elected from Baltimore county in 1868. He was at one time a trustee of Bayview Asylum, and held the position of tobacco in Baltimore. Mr. Montague acquired the title of general when acting as a member on the staff of Governor About twelve years ago General Mon ague purchased from Judge Giles the beautiful estate in Howard county, on which he has since resided.

Never let a cough run on from day to day. It indicates either inflammation or irritation, which, if allowed to continue, may result in serious injury to the lungs. A few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cures any pulmonary complaint not entirely beyond the reach of medicine.

Died From His Injuries. Two colored men residing near Ellicott City named Isaac Scoggins and "General" Coates, became involved in a desperate encounter Morday night, during which the former was fatally injured. After fighting for some minutes, Coates ran out and, returning to his antagonist, dealt him two or more terrible blows on the head with an axe or club, knocking him senseless upon the ground, Dr. B. J. Byrne, of this place, was summoned and rendered what aid he could. Scoggins was taken to the Baltimore city Hospital where he died Thursday morning from the effects of his injuries. Scoggins' skull was found badly fractured and there was a deep cut over his left car. Fatal Shooting Accident.

A fatal shooting accident occurred Sunday evening to Miss Bessie II Snowden at her home, "Snowden Hall," in Prince George's county. The accident occurred while Braith Mitchell, a young man from Washington, was shooting at a target with a pistol. He had shot all the loads out but one and while removing the empty shells, the revolver was discharged. The bullet grazed his hand and struck Miss Snowden in the lower part of the abdomen, passing from under the skin from one side to the other where it lodged. Drs. Wm. W. Duvall, of Bowie, and D. N. Snowden, of Laurel, were sent for. The ball was extracted by Dr. Duvall the same evening. While the wound was not considered necessarily fatal, the young lady did not rally from the shock and died Tuesday morning from nervous prostration. Miss Snowden was a daughter of the late John Snowden and was thirty-three wounding of a police 'officer in Catonsville while in the pursuit of his duty is President Lincoln the appraisorship of an event which ought to set the people the port of Baltimore. He, however, of Maryland into a serious train of redeclined the position, because of his flection. That the assailant was a thievstrong sympathy with the Confederate ing tramp will serve to give direction to cause. He served a term in the Mary this meditation, and the hope may be indulged that it will result in some sort of legislative action tending to save the highways of the commonwealth from being the stamping ground of tramps.

Not only do vagrants infest all parts of Maryland, but they have terrorized the country districts with their depredations, until neither life nor property is safe. Tramps are not only increasing in number, but are growing more reckless in their behavior year by year. The assault on the officer in Catonsville is what may be expected generally when the tramp is brought to bay or an effort is made to apprehend him.

What is needed to rid the state of this pest is a thorough-going vagrancy law, which will put the tramp to work earning his own living. The workhouse may not have had a sayory reputation in monarchical countries, but our state county, where vagrants, tramping on private property, may be restrained and forced to break stone, or to take part in Laurel.
